

Overcrowded Condition In Grade Schools Here Discussed at Meeting

Superintendent Reports That There Are Registered From 38 to 55 Pupils in Rooms at Schools No. 6 and 7.

OTHER MATTERS

Total Registration In High School Including the 39 at the Auditorium Is 1,906.

Several rooms in the grade schools of the city of Kingston are overcrowded it was disclosed during an informal talk among members of the Board of Education Friday evening following the presenting of Superintendent B. C. Van Ingen's monthly report. Mr. Van Ingen stated that in some of the rooms of the grade schools there were as many as 55 pupils. Asked as to what the State Education Department deemed a proper number of students for one room he said there was no rule but the department felt that best results were had when a teacher had about 35 students.

Where this condition exists it is usually in the upper grades and Mr. Van Ingen explained that the custom was to divide the pupils during the recitation periods of major subjects. During the recital period of minor subjects the two units would occupy the room. This crowded condition exists in No. 6 and 7, where in 12 rooms there are registered from 38 to 55 pupils each.

A report also was made on the operation of the new non-resident special unit which is being operated in the Municipal Auditorium. There are 39 students registered there, all being non-residents who could not be cared for in the high school building and who were offered facilities for high school work after several school officials from the country districts petitioned the board to care for the non-resident students who became eligible for high school work following the mid-year examinations. These students are being cared for in two rooms of the Municipal Auditorium on Broadway, a block from the high school, and these pupils are sent to assembly in the high school at least twice a week with the regularly registered under-classes. This is, however, about the only relief with the local high school which they are able to have this term except for school social activities. The group is given the physical training facilities at intervals by the physical directors of the school who go to the Auditorium.

Loss of time in passing to and from the class rooms in the Auditorium to the high school is one of the big factors which prevent further contacts. This is particularly true in cold weather when wraps must be put on. There also is the hazard of automobile traffic encountered passing to and from the class rooms to the high school.

Despite the handicap the group is making rapid progress and will be absorbed in the regular high school unit next fall. The success of the scheme may have some bearing on what action will be taken next fall as to acceptance of non-resident students.

Mr. Van Ingen explained that his report showed 47 non-resident students admitted at the mid-term. Of that number only 29 were at the Municipal Auditorium annex. The other eight were non-residents who came from the No. 8 town of Ulster district and who while they were not residents of Kingston must be cared for in the city schools under a provision of the charter which grew out of the consolidation of districts years ago.

The total registration in high school, including the 39 at the Auditorium, is 1,906. This includes the 126 residents and 33 non-residents entering this term. Of that number 1,217 are resident students and 689 are non-residents.

Brief Business Session
The regular business session was brief. The building committee has recommended that the wall to be erected by the ERB at No. 1 school shall be of masonry. The material will be furnished by the board and the work done by the ERB.

The Building and Supply Committee of the Common Council sent a communication stating that the Board of Education might use the rooms in the Municipal Auditorium for the non-resident high school at a cost of $16 per pupil registered per year. The communication was received and filed.

Permission was given the Home-Com Society of the high school for use of the high school gym for a Leap Year party on March 27. The Federated Council of the P. A. was granted permission to use the auditorium for a play on March 27 in the afternoon. The play will be "Hans Brinker" or "The Silver Skates."

An application of the Kingston Players Guild for use of the auditorium for the evening of March 12 was referred to the Building Committee with power. The application of the Guild did not comply with the State Law regarding use of school buildings. It will be determined to what purpose the revenue will be devoted and whether the Guild can secure within the meaning of the law. The law provides:

Breckenridge Silent On Entering Primary

New York, Feb. 29 (AP)—Col. Henry Breckenridge, assistant secretary of war in the Wilson administration, said today he had no comment on his reported plan to enter Ohio's presidential preferential primary.

Colonel Breckenridge, attorney for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, in a statement last September 2 charged the Roosevelt administration with repudiating Democratic party traditions and principles.

He proposed a coalition of "all elements" of voters to oust New Deal "alien-minded adventurers."

In 1934 Colonel Breckenridge sought the United States senatorship from New York on a "Constitutional Party" ticket, but was defeated by Senator Royal S. Copeland, Democrat.

He traveled through the state by plane, piloting himself whenever possible as a means of filling the requirements for renewal of his pilot's license.

ERB Makes Contract With Two Physicians To Care for the Needy

Dr. Fred S. Carr and Dr. Emil S. Goodyear to Care for Families on Relief in Need of Medical Attention—ERB Expends New Plan to Save Money for Taxpayers.

Last year the ERB expended approximately $17,000 for medical care for needy families on the relief rolls of the city, and in an effort to reduce expenditures and save money for the taxpayers of the city, who have to foot the bill, the ERB has just entered into a contract with Dr. Fred S. Carr of the Kingston Hospital and Dr. Emil S. Goodyear of the Benedictine Hospital, for them to take care of families on relief in need of medical attention. Each doctor will be paid $100 a month for their services.

Last year a relief family needing medical attention would call in a physician who would render his bill to the ERB for his services. The city under that plan was reimbursed to the extent of 40 cents on every dollar expended. The remaining 60 cents was paid by the city. For medical attention last year the ERB spent the sum of approximately $10,300, while bills for optical, dental and prescriptions raised the total amount to approximately $17,000.

Under the new plan that has just been adopted the city will be reimbursed 75 cents on every dollar expended.

Both Dr. Carr and Dr. Goodyear will be placed on the administrative payroll of the ERB, and the state will pay 75 per cent of their salary to the city, leaving the remaining 25 per cent to be paid by the city. This action on the part of the ERB is expected to cut down the medical bills for relief families more than one-half this year.

MR. AND MRS. BARNUM ARE REPORTED IN FAIR CONDITION

"Excellent Health"

Ormand Beach, Fla., Feb. 29 (AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., is in "excellent health for a man 56 years old," it was said today at his winter home, "The Casements," living in strict seclusion. Mr. Rockefeller recently has foregone the daily automobile rides which of late years have given townspeople their only glimpse of him.

Although he has been married 24 years, has three children, 14 grandchildren and 5 great grandchildren, Mrs. W. G. Rockefeller, 51, celebrated her birthday today, February 23. This is no "believe it or not" tale because Mr. Rockefeller was born on this day in 1870. This being his 66th birthday, with February being an extra day, the 29th, Mr. Rockefeller is entitled to celebrate. Congratulations, however, are being withheld from him.

Washington, Feb. 29 (AP)—President Roosevelt's tax plans, calling for $786,000,000 a year for the next three years and somewhat smaller sums thereafter, today produced divided opinion in Democratic ranks and drew cheerful smiles from Republicans.

Some powerful Democrats, set against such levies in a campaign year, predicted Congress would slash hundreds of millions off the requests. Others believed the President's program would go through virtually intact.

Democratic leaders hoped the income tax returns next March 15 would show enough of an increase to permit a substantial reduction in the $786,000,000 figure.

President Roosevelt was framing a message today asking for the $786,000,000, which he held to be adequate to balance the ordinary budget—exclusive of relief—for the fiscal year 1937, beginning next July 1. The message is expected to reach Congress Monday.

Chairman Doughton (D-N. C.) of the House ways and means committee, which will begin work on the bill quickly, predicted the sum would be nothing like $786,000,000. But Representative Bankhead (D-Ala.) said the President's request would be met.

"We can't go on forever with all outgo and no income to offset it," he said. "The President has made up his mind to balance the regular budget and he's going to do it."

Representative Snell (R-N. Y.), minority House leader, said: "Oh, this country is going to be tax conscious, all right, and the sooner it is the quicker this spending will stop."

Defending New Deal expenditures for relief and recovery, Representative Samuel B. Hill (D-Wash.) said: "We'll get this money and whatever else is needed for honest and constructive rehabilitation of the country."

Some administration leaders were hopeful of avoiding any new taxes, and confining the revenue bill to replacement of the invalidated processing taxes.

Reaction Awaited
The capital awaited today word as to whether railroads would wage a legal war against slashes in passenger rates ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Some informed observers believed there was a possibility some eastern roads would carry a fight to the courts, although there was no confirmation that such was the intention.

The ICC decreed a nationwide cut in coach fares, bringing the basic rate down from 3.6 cents a mile to 2 cents. Pullman fares were ordered cut from an average of 4 cents, including surcharges, to 3 cents.

Speculation arose in transportation circles as to the possible effect on bus rates.

Representatives of interstate motor carriers now are preparing standard rate schedules which must be submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission by March 23 under the motor carrier act of 1935. The bus rates will become effective April 1.

One bus official said he did not look for a major reduction in rates to compete with the new rail schedules.

The commission's railroad fare order, effective June 2, was greeted coolly in most eastern railroad circles. The Baltimore and Ohio was an exception, however, believing that passenger revenues would be increased through more rail travel.

Railroad officials in New York said that, obviously, if passenger fares do not increase the revenues will drop.

Countess Barbara Is Improving, the Doctors Report in London Today

Woolworth Heiress, Operated Upon Thursday Night, Visited by King Edward's Physician, Lord Horder; Two Others Attend.

CONDITION GRAVE

Abdominal Obstruction Was the Cause of Operation; Parents at Bedside With Husband.

London, Feb. 29 (AP)—Physicians attending Countess Barbara Hutton Haugwitz-Reventlow, seriously ill after an operation after the birth of her first child, reported a slight improvement in her condition today.

Their report followed a lengthy consultation at the bedside of the countess.

Her personal physician, Dr. James Slesinger, accompanied by a second doctor, entered the Regency Period House where the baby was born Tuesday and where the mother has been seriously ill since an operation Thursday night.

They followed an early morning visit by Lord Horder, physician in ordinary to King Edward, who said that the countess had had a "fairly restful night."

Count Haugwitz-Reventlow, who remained at his wife's bedside during most of the night, returned to the sick room after a short rest.

The countess, heiress to the Woolworth millions, was operated on for an abdominal obstruction. The seriousness of her condition was disclosed yesterday when three physicians were called to attend her.

Lord Horder was summoned to her bedside early today. As he hurried from the house, dressed in a dark suit and wearing a black armband in mourning for the late King George V, he shook his head doubtfully and declined to commit himself as to the outlook for the future of his patient.

The countess underwent her operation Thursday night for an abdominal obstruction.

Count Count Haugwitz-Reventlow, Danish nobleman who married the 23-year-old heiress last May in Reno, announced that the symptoms developed definitely Thursday and the operation was performed soon afterward.

He was at the countess's bedside as was the patient's stepmother, Mrs. Franklin L. Hutton. The countess's father, a New York broker, remained at the Haugwitz-Reventlow house until a late hour last night before returning to his hotel.

Hutton's departure indicated no immediate crisis was expected. Milk men delivered 18 quarts of milk and six pints of tuberculin tested whey to the great Regency House facing Hyde Park.

The countess's cousin, Jimmy Donahue, left the house last night, asserting: "I am afraid it is very serious. That is all I can say now."

The British press gave prominence to the illness of the countess, whose first husband, Prince Alexis Mdivani, died last August in an automobile accident in Spain.

"Force With Force"

Elizabeth, N. J., Feb. 29 (AP)—Four sheriff's deputies accused of killing Mrs. Sophie Crempas in the shotgun clinic to the Crempas row with a power company, made final plans today to prove their "meet force with force." Martin O'Connor, counsel for the deputies, Charles Remley and Richard Vincent and Edward Carolan, brother-in-law of Vincent, said that would be the defense when the trial is resumed Monday. Judge Edward A. McGrath denied a motion by O'Connor for a directed verdict of acquittal, at the close of the state's testimony yesterday.

Chicago, Feb. 29 (AP)—Custody of Joan Purdy, 7, object of an intra-family court battle, was awarded by Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg to the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Purdy of Westchester county, N. Judge Feinberg announced his decision yesterday, after the child's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gibbons, filed a habeas corpus action instituted by the Purdy's to retain custody of Joan.

N. Y. C. Calls Off Its "Snow Train"

The past few days of spring-like weather has apparently put an end to the "winter sports" in Ulster county, at least for the present week-end. Bad snow conditions in the Catskills has caused the New York Central Railroad to call off its "snow train" to West Hurley and Woodstock this week-end and no train came up last evening and the special Sunday train to Phenicia has been cancelled.

Last Sunday snow conditions were good on the higher slopes, but the ski slope at J. A. Simpson Memorial Slope at Snyder Hollow was in poor condition. The warm weather has melted the snow and caused a hard crust to form and unless more snow comes within the next few days in all probabilities the "snow trains" will cease for the winter.

The season, the first effort to get winter sports in the Catskills, proved to be a good one despite the late start which was made at Phenicia, Woodstock and Rosendale local associations have been promoting winter sports for the first time on a large scale. Ellenville last week also had a "snow train" over the O. & W. Railroad and a couple of hundred people took advantage of the train.

Decrease of Crimes
Washington, Feb. 29 (AP)—The justice department reported today "a decrease of serious crimes during the past three years." Murders, assault, auto thefts and robberies all declined, according to statistics compiled by the Bureau of Investigation from reports of 74 local police departments. Auto thefts dropped from 24,727 in 1932 to 22,416 in 1935. A "heartening" decrease in robberies were reported from 29,925 in 1932 to 14,248 in 1935. Murders decreased from 1,774 in 1932 to 1,455 in 1935. "Larcenies" still predominated, the report said, but show a small decline, from 141,325 in 1932 to 127,797 in 1935.

Brother-in-law Victim Of Assassins, Japanese Electrified By Action

Premier's Family Knew Thursday Night That He Was Alive; Colonel Matsuo Resembled Okada in Voice.

EMBASSY GUARDED

Military Unit Protects U. S. Embassy From All Approaches at Rebellion's Height.

By GLENN BABB (Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

Tokyo, Feb. 29.—Premier Katsuko Okada, proclaimed throughout the world as a victim of assassins' guns in Japan's military purge, reappeared alive and unhurt today as the rebellious movement collapsed.

His resurrection, electrifying a nation which believed its chief cabinet officer had been cut down by the bullets of revolting officers, remained an official secret until after the 1,000 rebels had surrendered.

When the cabinet secretariat disclosed that the premier still lived and headed the government and that the man slain by the excited insurgents was his brother-in-law who closely resembles him.

The mutineers, who sprang a swift coup at dawn Wednesday, attacked liberal older statesmen and seized government centers, finally yielded their positions after the loyal troops rumbled tanks into place and launched an advance.

Hatsuno Sekomizu, the premier's private secretary, told the Domei (Japanese) News Agency tonight that members of Okada's family knew he was alive Thursday night but kept this a matter of strict secret.

The secretary said that when rebel officers who made the premier's residence their headquarters asked Sekomizu to remove what the revolutionists thought was the premier's body, the secretary said he did so fully aware that the body was not that of the premier.

"When I saw the body," Sekomizu told the News Agency, "I realized that it was that of Colonel Matsuo, who had married the premier's younger sister."

Very Similar.
"Matsuo and Okada had very similar voices. The rebels appeared convinced that the body was that of Okada."

"I cannot tell you now where the premier was during the outbreak," the secretary also disclosed that an inquest was held over the body of the premier's brother-in-law Thursday night.

Another report to the News Agency said that Okada apparently hid in a secluded part of the grounds during the attack on his residence and later slipped away to safer quarters.

Residents of the Negatacho district where the insurgents established their base were permitted to return to their homes.

Reports that some or all of the rebel officers had committed suicide were not confirmed. Other reports said that in partial permission had been granted when insurgent officers, unable to obey the emperor's command, had asked permission to kill themselves.

During the morning operations the United States embassy was protected by a military guard estimated at 60 men armed with machine guns. Strong barricades of sandbags and logs defended all approaches.

The only settlement in the neighborhood, however, was when nine rebels surrendered at a Liberalist barricade in front of the embassy and were seized with their rifles. Members of the embassy staff watched the proceedings from the roof with field glasses.

As an automobile is useless without gas in its tank, so also is a man of little worth to the world without good will in his heart.

Who remembers when we used to rest on Sunday instead of Monday?

A motorist traveling a country road saw a house burning. Getting out of his car he pounded on the door lustily till an old woman opened it.

Motorist—Madam, your house is on fire.

Woman—Eh?

Motorist—I say your house is on fire!

Woman (putting her hand to her ear and leaning forward)—What?

Motorist (roaring)—Your house is burning up!

Woman (calmly)—Oh! Is that all?

Motorist (gasping)—That's all I can think of just now, madam.

Wife—Don't drive so fast—my chin is nearly frozen off!

Husband—Whatta you care? You've got another!

Under a spreading chestnut tree the village smithy stands: The smith, a mighty man is he, with cup-grease on his hands; He deals out chewing gum and tea and gumdrops and brakebands. Oh, once his cheerful anvil rang; and passing by his door. We paused to listen, while he sang and made his bellows roar; The red sparks from his hammer sprang and showered on the floor. No more we hear his hammer ring; no sparks fly as we pass; No anvil song, nor anything—those days are gone, alas! The smith, he hasn't time to sing—he's busy selling gas.—L. O. R.

HAVE A FINE ROSE GARDEN

GET A FEW TIPS AND SUCCEED WITH ROSES

Roses everywhere—in borders, on trellises, over the back fence! Roses that bloom all summer long! That's the gardener's dream.

Now is the time to be poring over the flowery pages of garden catalogs, picking out the kind of bushes you want to set out, and getting ahead of the general rush for good plants.

You'll be interested in the new ever-blooming climbing roses, shown in sketch, which give you the advantage of a rose which will grow on a trellis and at the same time give big-long-stemmed roses all summer for cutting. Then there are the old familiar bush roses, such as the white beauty in the photograph, good in borders or alone a path, supplying fine bouquets.

Of course the baby ramblers and the polyanthas go on blooming until severe freezing. A rose, to bloom all summer, must have plenty of water and plant food—a quart of liquid manure per plant each week, applied just before a rain or a thorough watering. In the spring mulch the roots with tobacco stems if you can.

And leave them in place until the next spring.

If you have had a small potted rose indoors this winter, don't be in too great a hurry to set it out in the garden. Wait until the trees leaf out. Then take the rose out of the pot, loosen the roots, and plant it about a half-inch deeper than it was in the pot.

These hybrid tea roses that you banked with straw or leaves may be uncovered with the coming of warm days. But watch out for cold nights in April and May. Old sacks or bushel baskets will protect roses from late freezes.

Your local dealer can tell you what roses will do best in your climate and with your soil.

Then get practical help from our 40-page Home Institute booklet, "Gardening Made Easy. Here's a noted horticulturist's device on garden planning, planting around buildings, arranging borders, rose gardens, rock gardens. MODES OF THE MOMENT

Contrast in fabric or color is chic note.

Liana Merwin

Many very interesting things are happening in the way of street costumes for spring. Contrast is the big feature either in fabric or color and sometimes a combination of both is used, for an unusual effect.

Wood coated ensembles, jacket dresses and redingotes are among the most important styles for street wear. The coats varying in length from short boleros and box jackets to three-quarter length swaggers coats or the full length models—each in its place, being a correct style.

The very swanky ensemble pictured above uses a smart combination of color and fabric contrast.

The dress is of brown shiver crepe with a high neckline, brown suede belt and stitched pleating. The flared coat of beige wool is three-quarters length, falling in ripples from a round yoke.

"Brown whipping," the newest of trimming, is used on the front of the coat and around the yoke, tying up with the brown color of the dress. The full sleeves are snug at the wrist.

This costume is very simply fashioned, yet reveals unlimited style. Most garments will have this quality for spring, as the smartest models are simple and tailored.

WPA Concerts

Highly Praised

One of those who attended the concert given by the WPA orchestra at the Municipal Auditorium last Sunday afternoon, found the selections well presented and of such variety that the audience present was more than pleased.

He feels that Kingston should be proud of this musical organization and the quality of music it is rendering, some of the best, and adds that this "same type of concert in Vienna would fill the largest hall to overflowing." It is suggested that if music lovers desire this kind of music they show their appreciation by attending and bringing their friends.

A feature of the concert Sunday afternoon will be the introduction of the numbers of S. Castiglione, director of the orchestra, who will give interesting facts concerning each number. The program was given in The Freeman of Friday.
